

CPO4721 / EUS 4930:

The Politics of Ethnic Conflict / The Politics of Ethnicity in Europe

Instructor: Sarah Snowmann

Location: MAT 0118

Meeting Times: Tuesdays 10:40 AM-11:30, Thursdays 10:40-12:35

Course Description

In this course, students will be introduced to interdisciplinary approaches to studying ethnicity and nationalism, grounded in the context of Europe. We will examine various manifestations of ethnicity: violence, partisanship, secession, and more. We will delve into the histories of specific ethnic groups in the region, ways in which national institutions have been used to manage ethnic divisions, and how the EU has dealt with issues of ethnicity and nationalism. This course will give students the ability to more clearly grasp both ethnic politics and European politics, allowing them to engage in discourse surrounding one of the most divisive issues in European life. Through the weekly readings and their independent research projects, students will ultimately be able to better answer questions about ethnic political parties, secessionism, the rise of nationalism, and how these topics can help to explain the broader political environment of Europe.

Course Policies:

Grades and Deadlines:

- Participation: 10%
- Attendance: 5%
 - You may miss two classes with no penalty or excuse, but any unexcused absences beyond those two results in a zero for the attendance grade.
- Two Response Papers: 15%
 - These papers are short (500-750) words on the readings for any given week. At least one must be submitted on or before February 29.
- Discussion Leadership: 10%
 - Twice throughout the semester, students must attend class with 2-3 prepared, discussion-provoking questions on the course reading of the day to discuss with their classmates.
- Capstone Research Proposal: 10%
 - Due January 25
 - This is a short (300-500) word proposal on a case study for your capstone research paper. Topics could include support for secessionism in Catalonia, policy towards ethnic Russian non-citizens in Latvia, ethnic cleansing during the Yugoslav Wars, or any other topic you could imagine on the intersection of Europe and ethnicity. If you are using this class for the EU Studies minor or certificate, the paper must focus on the EU and EU policy.

- Capstone Annotated Bibliography / Outline: 10%
 - Due March 7
 - You may submit either an outline with references or an annotated bibliography for your final paper for this assignment.
- Capstone Workshop and Presentation: 10%
 - In-class Weeks 14 & 16
 - This includes your formal final presentation along with peer reviewing your peer's papers.
- Capstone Research Project: 30%
 - Due May 1 at 11:59 Eastern Time
 - This paper will be 3,000-5,000 words on your topic.

Grading Scale:

A =93-100; A- = 90-92; B+ =87-89; B =83-86; B- =80-82; C+ =77-79;
C =73-76; C- =70-72; D =60-69; F =0-59

Late Assignments and Attendance

Without prior approval, late assignments will be subject to a penalty of 10% per day. You may incur two unexcused absences without penalty, but any unexcused absences beyond that will result in a forfeiture of the attendance credit. In accordance with university policy, acceptable reasons for absence from class include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements (e.g., judging trips, field trips, professional conferences), military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays, and participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition or debate. Absences from class for court-imposed legal obligations (e.g., jury duty or subpoena) must be excused. Other reasons also may be approved.

Course Schedule

Note: Readings are to be completed before class. If a reading is listed under "Tuesday", it is to be completed before the start of Tuesday's class. The syllabus is subject to change, and students will be notified electronically if that is the case.

UF Policies:Controversial Material in Classrooms

People learn best when they are encouraged to ask questions and express their diverse opinions on course content, which may include images, texts, data, and theories from across the disciplines. This is especially true in courses that deal with provocative or contemporary issues. UF offers many such courses, in which students encounter concepts of race, color, sex, and/or national origin. We teach these important issues because understanding them is essential for anyone who seeks to make economic, cultural, and societal contributions to today's complex world. With this in mind, we do not limit access to, or classroom discussion of, facts, ideas, and opinions—including those that some may find uncomfortable, unwelcome, disagreeable, or even offensive. In response to challenging material, students and instructors are encouraged to ask honest questions and thoughtfully engage one another's ideas. But hostility, disruptive and disrespectful behavior, and provocation for provocation's sake have no place in a classroom; reasonable people disagree reasonably. These guidelines can help instructors and students as they work together to fulfill the mission of the University of Florida, which includes the exploration of intellectual boundaries, the creation of new knowledge and the pursuit of new ideas.

Registration of Student Complaints

If students have concerns about classroom issues, disagreements or grades, their first point of contact is the classroom instructor whose contact information appears on the syllabus. If the problem cannot be resolved, the student should email the next departmental contact: in classes with TAs, this is the instructor of record, in classes without TAs, this may be the departmental course coordinator or the department chair. Their contact information can be found on the syllabus or on the program's website at <https://polisci.ufl.edu/>. That email should include a clear description of the student's concern, and any supporting documents. Most concerns are resolved at this level. If a resolution cannot be reached at the departmental level, the student will be referred to the Office of the UF Ombuds <https://www.ombuds.ufl.edu>.

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students requesting accommodation for disabilities must first register with the Dean of Students Office. Information about accommodation letters and testing accommodations can be found at <https://disability.ufl.edu/> (look for the “Accommodation Letters” and “Accommodated Testing Request” buttons). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student, who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodations. You must submit this documentation prior to submitting assignments or taking the exams if you wish receive accommodations for those assignments and exams. Accommodations are not retroactive, so students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Honor Code (<https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.

Class Recordings

Students are allowed to record audio/video of class lectures for: personal educational use, a complaint to the university, or as evidence in a civil or criminal proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Publication or transmission without written permission of the instructor is prohibited, which includes sharing with other students or online uploads to third party sites. The permission to record class lectures does not extend to activities that involve student presentations or discussions.

Software Use

All faculty, staff, and students of the University are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against University policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate. We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to uphold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.

Student Privacy

There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see:
