

Polish 1130 - POL1130 (18468), section 5522
Polish Language and Culture 1, 5 credits
Fall 2021

Course Description

The goal of Polish 1130 is to introduce the student to the Polish language and culture. As a course for the beginners, it is assumed that the student has little to no prior knowledge of the language.

POL1130 is the first part, semester, of a two-part sequence. It will be the most beneficial to your knowledge of the language to take both semesters. At the same time, taking one semester is better than not taking any Polish language course at all.

POL1130 and POL1131 use the same books.

Course goals

After completion of the course the student will be able to:

- use nouns and adjectives in four of the seven cases
- use basic verbs in conversations about themselves, family, and friends
- choose a correct case for the noun when one of the verbs from lessons 1 – 9 is given
- count in range 0 to 1000
- use numbs in relation to age, currency, telephone numbers and address
- outline the general history of Poland and be able to discuss in detail one topic from Polish culture or history
- outline the physical geography of Poland

"Polski, krok po kroku" is, currently, the most modern and universal publication at the market. It is written only in Polish in order to immerse students in the new language from the very first class and mobilise them to use it. It is an excellent solution for international groups and individual classes. It may be successfully used at intensive courses and semester courses conducted at universities. Its advantages encompass clear grammar tables, intuitive explanation of grammar issues via dialogues, wealth of lexicon, good quality and naturally sounding recordings, as well as very attractive graphic layout designed not only to decorate, but also to create new opportunities for speaking. Communication is the superior, consistently implemented objective throughout the book in all its activities. Grammar issues are incorporated into the communication context, automating exercises often have the form of a dialogue, whereas conversations and texts sound very natural. Students will also value the plot of the book. It presents the adventures of four characters who came to Cracow for a language course and unique holidays. Here, they get to know the city, deal with various issues, cook and fall in love.

The workbook "Zeszyt Ćwiczeń 1" supplements the series for the learning Polish as a foreign language Polski, Krok po kroku, being an extremely useful tool for both the teacher and the students. Each of 26 units of the book, includes numerous activities, carefully and thoughtfully selected, and which main purpose is to facilitate communication in Polish language. The comparison between exercises of different levels is also quite useful, giving to the teacher the opportunity to adapt his teaching method to the individual needs of each student. The most ambitious students have at their disposal complementary activities, in order to widen their lexical knowledge, or individual activities of higher level, enabling them to continue to practice and learn the language.

Class participation	10%
Homework	15%
Exams	30%
Final project	5%
Final Exam	20%
Total	100%

Class Participation and Attendance: A significant part of learning any foreign language is its spoken usage. A language does not exist in a vacuum. To that end, 15% of your final grade in Polish 1130 will be determined by your attendance and participation in the classroom.

Quizzes and Homework: On most Mondays, we will have a quiz covering only material completed in a previous week (no more than one chapter). On most Thursdays, we will have vocabulary spelling quizzes. All quizzes will be announced in class or on Canvas.

Homework will be assigned in class and/or on Canvas. You may expect homework to be due on Mondays. Assigned homework is expected on the given due date. Late homework will not be graded. Unless I am notified in advance, you cannot make up quizzes that you miss due to an absence.

Exams: There will be three tests over the most recently reviewed material during the semester. All exams will be proctored.

Final project: To successfully fulfill this requirement you need to give a 10 to 15-minute presentation, in English, about a topic on Polish culture. Conditions of the presentation and grading criteria will be posted on Canvas.

Final Exam: The final exam will be cumulative; covering everything we will have studied by then.

Absence Policy: Whether excused or unexcused, after 5 absences (other than that one allowed) your final grade will be docked 5%. After 10 absences you will be given a failing grade for the class. In a language class, it is vital that you are present and participate in class. Of course, this policy will be amended to accommodate religious holidays. Please speak with me if this concerns you.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

A note on any language learning: Most of the learning you will do will actually be accomplished on your own at home. Meeting only 5 hours a week can only do so much. You are expected to study and review what has been introduced during class time.

Information on current UF grading policies for assigning grade points. This may be achieved by including a link to the web page: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>.

Cheating: Don't do it. You're college students after all. If any student is discovered cheating it will result in an automatic failing grade.

Likewise, students who un-mute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the "chat" feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials are prohibited.

COMPORTMENT POLICY

While you should feel free to express your ideas, slurs and epithets based on race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation and preference, religious practice, etc. will not be tolerated. Any disruptive, obnoxious, or disrespectful behavior may result in dismissal from the classroom and other disciplinary action. I trust that we can all avoid such situations and create a safe classroom environment. This can be easily achieved through mutual respect for one another. Please review the Netiquette Guide for Online Courses for expected student behavior.
